

Letter of recommendation

I was the course leader and one of the teachers at the course Organizational Leadership and Development, a course which André-Paul Widera attended when the course was given in 2023. During the course, André-Paul Widera came across as an ambitious student who demonstrated an ability to critically reflect on the course literature as well as the background assumptions of cases we discuss during seminars. He also produced a well-written, original and interesting home-exam on the topic of leadership from a theoretical and ethical point-of-view.
